Hoover Resumes Farm and Home Good Will Voyage Bureau Hold Annual Meeting

President of Peru Stresses Necessity of Pan-Americanism as Bulwark of Liberty for All Nations of Western World.

U. S. S. Maryland, en route to Antofagasta, Chile, Dec. 6 (AP)—Bearing pleasant recollections of his reception by government and municipal officials and the people of Peru, President-elect Hoover today resumed his good will voyage along the west coast of South America with Antofagasta as his next stopping place.

Mr. Hoover felt he had been personally aided for his work as President-elect of the United States by conferences he had with President Leguia of Peru and by contact with other officials. He was convinced the United States and Peru have the same aspirations toward promoting Pan-Americanism. He believed his visit had been helpful in cementing the friendly relations which have existed since the foundation of the two republics.

Especially impressed was Mr. Hoover with the cordiality of his welcome by the Peruvians, who gave him a hearty greeting throughout the fourteen hours he was on the soil of one of the oldest countries in the western hemisphere.

Crowds waited for hours in front of the American Embassy and Presidential Palace at Lima for his appearance. They walked for blocks following the President-elect as he drove twice to the Presidential Palace—once to greet President Leguia at mid-day and again to attend a dinner and reception at night. Mr. Hoover also was able to be present at receptions by the American Society at the Country Club and by American engineers at the Engineers' Club.

Pan-Americanism Necessary.

President Leguia in formally addressing Mr. Hoover at the banquet in his honor, stressed the necessity of Pan-Americanism. He said this was the thing that Mr. Hoover was making the present trip to accomplish and had as his aim friendship, good will and understanding between all the American republics.

Such a union, the Peruvian President declared, had been and would continue to be a bulwark of liberty for all the nations of the western world. He added that the Hoover visit would be of incalculable benefit to this spirit of Pan-Americanism.

Mr. Hoover in responding stressed the importance of improved aerial communications between South America and the United States. He said his visit was born of the hope and aspiration that it could further re-enforce the structure of peace, friendship and unity of ideals between these Republics.

Mr. Hoover referred to "the steady and majestic progress of South America in the past century of political stability, freedom and liberty, peace, increasing material wealth, and increasing human comfort and happiness."

Diminish Destruction, Says Hoover.

The President-elect expressed the hope that public servants in all countries could continue to diminish destructive forces, to strengthen the forces of material and spiritual progress, and to build up institutions of government which would assure liberty and freedom.

Mr. Hoover and Mrs. Hoover and their son, Allan, and "Ambassador Fletcher and others of the party rode to the presidential dinner in raily-colored barouches, similar to those used by Spanish Viceroy in the days of Spanish rule in the land of the Incas. They were preceded by motorcycle police and accompanied by the president's lanceros. After the reception, they returned to the Embassy where they prepared for a short automobile journey back to the Port of Callao. There they boarded the Maryland, which immediately weighed anchor.

Brown Hurt in An Auto Crash

Charles Brown of 326 Clifton avenue was injured this afternoon about 12:40 o'clock when his Ford truck and a Cadillac sedan driven by William Applegate of Hoboken, N. J., collided at Foxhall and Flatbush avenues. The city ambulance was called and Brown was taken to the Kingston Hospital where he was treated for cuts on the face. It was expected that he would be able to leave the hospital later in the day. Both truck and sedan were damaged in the crash.

Dr. Spaeth Talks on Music

Dr. Sigismund Spaeth, director of community concerts, who is at present engaged in the organization of a community concert association in Kingston, was next introduced. Dr. Spaeth spoke of the aim of the association in bringing to Kingston some of the greatest artists of the day and told how by becoming a member of the association it would be possible to hear these artists. No tickets will be sold for individual concerts but the course will be open to those who become members of the association. On the number of members secured before the middle of December will depend the number of concerts and the artists who will be secured. The more members, the better the concert artists who can be secured. He then showed how the popular songs of the day are "stolen" from the older music and how some of our latest popular jazz is composed of snatches from some of the classics. To illustrate he selected the chorus from "Yes, We Have No Bananas Today" and showed how by jarring classics

Each Organization Elects Three Directors—Vote in Change Time and Place of Annual Meeting—Invitation to Change Place of Picnic Declined—Directors to Consider Resolutions.

The annual Farm and Home Bureau meeting was held on Wednesday afternoon at the high school. President Millard Davis in calling the meeting to order briefly remarked: "The hour of 1:30 has come and passed," which it had considerably, and then called upon Secretary-Treasurer Hathaway for the reading of the minutes of the last meeting.

Then came the roll call with running commentaries well worth bearing given by President Davis. While many members came in later in the afternoon the actual roll call of both Farm and Home Bureau was as follows:

Accord, 3
Asbury, 4
Clintonville, 1
Flatbush, 4
Gardiner, 2
Highland, 1
Hurley, 1
Kerhonkson, 1

Modena-Plattekill, 4
New Paltz, 3
Stone Ridge, 3
Tongore, 1
Valkill-Shawangunk, 2
Ulster Park, 2

After the appointment of Mr. Jansen, Mrs. Hardenburgh and Mr. Wells as a committee on resolutions, the membership committees reported 597 members in the Farm Bureau and 841 members in the Home Bureau, not quite as many as last year.

Directors Elected.

The next order of business was the election of three directors for the Farm Bureau and the Home Bureau to fill the vacancies caused by the expiration of the terms of Frederick DuBois, Lester Davis and Mr. Velie in the Farm Bureau, and Mrs. DuBois, Mrs. Saxe and Mrs. Smith in the Home Bureau. The nominating committees were John Beatty, John Gaffney and Fred Kukuk and Mrs. Bottinger, Mrs. Eppes and Mrs. La Ware. The election resulted in Fred DuBois and Lester Davis being chosen to succeed themselves with Mr. Jenkins as the third Farm Bureau director, Mrs. DuBois was re-elected and Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Brown were elected as Home Bureau directors.

Change Date of Annual Meeting.

At the last annual meeting a committee had been chosen to consider the advisability of holding the annual business meeting a few days before the holding of the annual banquet, holding said business meeting in different parts of the county, thus making it possible for members engaged in dairying, etc., to attend both meetings as now it is impossible for them to be away over such a long period on any one day. This matter was presented by William A. Warren, chairman of the committee, and there was considerable discussion. The resolution offered by Mr. Warren was adopted.

Tell of Work Accomplished.

President Davis then called upon the vice president, Miss Dero, chairman of the Home Bureau, for a report which she gave succinctly, stressing the real good that has been accomplished in the way of better health throughout the county as the result of the nutrition lessons and also the valuable and practical help given by Dr. Wilker in her six Child Guidance lectures. Miss Dero deferred any elaborate report to Miss Nance, who gave the high spots of the year's work, a full account of which will be found elsewhere in this issue of The Freeman.

Then the men had a chance at the speakers' platform which happened to be the floor at the front of the High School, and Mr. Davis recounted some of the accomplishments and ambitions of the Farm Bureau leading up to an introduction of the new manager, Mr. Kurtz, who followed Miss Nance's example and gave just an outline of his annual report which appeared in full in The Freeman Wednesday evening.

After Mr. Kurtz had been thus introduced to all present and had expressed his pleasure in working in Ulster county, Chairman Davis introduced his new assistant, Mr. Salisbury, who will be here permanently in charge of spraying service. The young man said just enough in a friendly and capable manner to give him also a favorable reception.

The only speaker of the afternoon was Mr. Hoefler of Rensselaer county who spoke at length and with the enthusiasm borne of present time success in his home county of the 4-H Clubs of which he is a leader.

No Change in Picnic Place.

Resuming the business session which had given way for a time to the speaker Chairman Davis announced under new business an invitation extended from the Ulster County Fair Association to the Farm and Home Bureau to hold their annual picnic at the Fair this coming season, presumably the first day, and offering free admission to all members to the Fair grounds. Though the Home Bureau would be permitted to have their own concessions, as it is from the annual picnic that this branch of the organization receives the greater part of its revenue, it was considered that that

New Paltz Man Sues for Damages To His Sedan in Collision on Highland Hill—Snyder Case Goes Over to Monday.

A negligence action brought by Frederick Z. Coulter of New Paltz against N. B. Gottlieb of New York city was taken up for trial in Supreme court this morning. Coulter, who operates a taxi business at New Paltz, is suing for damages to his Nash sedan which he claims was damaged by reason of the negligence of Gottlieb who was operating a Chrysler 50 roadster at Highland on July 4, 1928. The Coulter car was driven by W. A. Miller of New Paltz.

Plaintiff claims that defendant drove his car up the hill from the Highland terry toward the village to the left of the road and collided with the Nash which was to the right of the road on its way down the hill. In the Nash were Mr. Stimmis and family of New Paltz.

Plaintiff's chauffeur and the occupants of the car testified their car was some 10 inches from the concrete retaining wall on the right of the road when the Chrysler car, coming up the hill, crashed into the car throwing it across the road to the left and over the trolley tracks while the Chrysler continued on up the hill and over to its left and center of the road, where it came to a stop.

Joseph K. Scott of Milton, who was coming up the hill, testified he was traveling some 10 or 15 miles an hour and 100 feet from the scene of the accident the Chrysler overtook him and passed. The car, he said, was traveling 30 or 35 miles an hour and continued on at that speed until it struck the Nash on the turn. The Nash appeared to be coming down the hill about 20 or 25 miles an hour to its extreme right of the road. The accident happened near the Highland knitting mill, near the foot of the hill.

Snyder Case Postponed.

The jury selected to try No. 374, Bertha Snyder against George D. Strongman and Melvin Sharp of Highland, was excused until Monday afternoon when the case will be taken up. After the jury had been selected Judge Russell permitted the case to go over until Monday and took up the case now on trial.

No. 136, Louise M. Lowenwarter against Carl A. Wille and another, was announced as settled.

Firestone Case to Be Tried

On motion of Arthur B. Ewig an action brought by David Firestone against the New York Central Railroad was restored to the calendar and marked third Wednesday. Amos Van Etten opposed the motion. This action was in error stricken from the March calendar last spring. It grows out of the alleged flooding of the Firestone mill on Wilbur avenue by waters which plaintiff claims came there in flood conditions through the negligence of the railroad in permitting coal, ashes and refuse to block the creek which flows through that section of the city. Defendant alleges that the trouble was due to a broken sewer or other conditions. Mr. Van Etten, who is a member of the board of public works, stated that the plaintiff had sought to recover damages from the city through the board of public works for the alleged condition and now sought to recover from the railroad. The action is for an injunction and damages. The case was restored and will be moved the third Wednesday if defendant can prepare at that time, if not it will go over.

In reply Mr. Van Etten asked that Mrs. Firestone be added a plaintiff in the action and stated that he would move later as well as ask for an examination before trial.

A False Alarm.

Some one turned in a false alarm of fire from Box 19 at 11:46 o'clock Wednesday evening to which the fire department responded.

Exempt Meet Tonight.

The regular monthly meeting of the Exempt Firemen's Association will be held this evening at the Central Fire Station.

would not be sufficient to provide ample funds, and the consensus of opinion was that the invitation be declined with thanks but that the hearty cooperation of the entire organization be assured the Fair Association in trying to make the Fair as great a success as possible.

Two Unusual Resolutions.

Before the meeting closed Mr. Jansen, chairman of the resolutions committee, presented two quite unusual resolutions. The first asked that there be a special effort made to try and reach more of the small and perhaps inarticulate farmers who after all would receive the greatest good from the Farm Bureau; and this resolution was referred to the directors of close study to the board of directors. The other resolution called attention to the gradually increasing burden of debt from taxation upon the farmer and asked for legislative assistance in a readjustment of the present taxative activities so as to lessen the burden since other means could be devised for the raising of needed state and county revenues. This resolution especially appealed to Millard Davis and was also to have due consideration.

Mrs. S. D. J. Murphy is Elected President—Committee Chairmen Appointed and Reports Read—Mrs. Joan D. Goldrick Receives Great Praise For Her Leadership.

Mrs. Nicholas D. J. Murphy was elected President of the Auxiliary of the Benedictine Hospital at the annual meeting held Wednesday afternoon in the Nurses' Home, at which the largest attendance of the year took active part. Besides the election of officers there were many interesting reports read and the chairman of the standing committees for the ensuing year were also appointed.

The great work being carried on by the Auxiliary was also brought out at this time and the assurance of greater accomplishments in the future was voiced. The Auxiliary during the past four years had reached new heights and credit for their outstanding successes was contributed to the energetic and efficient leadership of Mrs. Joan Dwyer Goldrick, the retiring president, who had served for the four years. Besides the many activities at the hospital in cooperation with the sisters in charge in bringing cheer and comfort to the patients, the Auxiliary has contributed substantial amounts through their endeavors. During the past four years the Auxiliary turned over to the hospital $14,000.

Officers Elected.

The following officers were elected to serve for the coming year: President, Mrs. Nicholas D. J. Murphy; first vice president, Mrs. Joseph T. Garland; second vice president, Miss Eleanor Rosecrance; third vice president, Mrs. Charles Koofe; fourth vice president, Mrs. John Herwick; fifth vice president, Mrs. Frank Disch; recording secretary, Mrs. Harold L. Van Nostrand; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Edgar T. Shultis and treasurer, Mrs. Mark O'Meara.

Committee Chairmen.

The following chairmen of the standing committees were appointed: Social activities, Mrs. Joan Dwyer Goldrick; Membership, Mrs. Vincent A. Gorman; Social Service, Miss Florence Cortis; Purchasing, Mrs. Thomas Hayes; Publicity, Mrs. James T. O'Reilly; Sewing, Mrs. David Schenck; Layettes, Mrs. Casper Ketterer; Mending, Mrs. Augustus Kogel.

Reports Read.

Miss Mary E. McGill, retiring treasurer, read a report of the finances for the past year and Mrs. Harold Van Nostrand read a lengthy report of the Auxiliary doings of the past year.

Tribute to Mrs. Daley.

Mrs. Joan Dwyer Goldrick, the retiring president, paid a glowing tribute to the late Mrs. Mary Daley, who for the twenty-five years had lent her untiring services to the Auxiliary.

King George at The Broadway

Last Public Utterance of King of England Prior to His Illness to be Heard Here in Movietone News Next Week.

The last public utterance of King George V prior to his illness is being issued by Fox Movietone News. It contains the speech made by the British monarch at the opening of the great new bridge at Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, and is the only address of the sovereign recorded in talking pictures for posterity. The one other time that King George's voice was registered occurred when he made a phonograph record some years ago for the royal archives.

The talking picture was obtained by Jack Connolly, head of Fox Movietone abroad. Representatives of the British Government at first refused the request to take the ceremonies at the opening of the bridge in Movietone. At the last moment they relented, with the proviso that the apparatus should be set up just before the opening without inconveniencing the King. The technicians arranged their equipment in one minute and thus preserved for the world this life-like close-up of His Majesty.

The royal voice was photographed on the edge of the film, which shows the King's movements and gestures. So true to life was the recording that when the voice and action were screened for the representatives of His Majesty, royal approval for its release was given to Fox Film Corporation. The royal voice and action were recorded on about 700 feet of negative which was developed in New York. About 600 positive prints of this negative have been made at Fox Film Laboratories, 550 Tenth avenue, which were shipped by airplane and railroad throughout the United States for immediate screening. His Majesty's voice will be heard at the Broadway Theatre next week, beginning Monday, December 10.

Most Welcome Announcement Since Monarch's Illness—Benevolent Critical Great Interest Shown In Home-ward Journey of the Prince of Wales.

London, Dec. 6 (AP)—The statement that King George's general condition was slowly improving came from the official morning bulletin from his physicians was the most welcome announcement that has come from Buckingham Palace since the monarch's illness became critical a few days ago. It served to cheer the hearts of his loyal subjects, who have been waiting with tense anxiety for some such word that would indicate a turn for the better.

The medical bulletin, signed by Lord Dawson of Penn and Sir Stanley Howitt, said:

"The king has passed a fair night and his temperature this morning is lower. The general condition is slowly improving and the infective process, which remains severe, is becoming more localized."

It probably would seem unwise to interpret too optimistically the words of the bulletin, for the king has been ill for 17 days, and it is granted still to be a very sick man. Also it could hardly be thought that the chances for another turn for the worse have been eliminated.

There were other features about the bulletin than that mentioning the king's general improving condition, however, which had a favorable sound. One of these was that, after passing a fairly comfortable night, his temperature was lower. Another was that there was an increasing localization of the infective process in his chest. The physicians, none the less, indicated that this process still was severe.

Pleasure was expressed among the members of the royal household with what was regarded as the reassuring nature of the doctor's report. It was pointed out, however, that the progress indicated necessarily must be slow. There also was satisfaction among the king's entourage that the doctor had omitted any mention of anxiety concerning his heart, which had appeared in several previous bulletins. This was regarded as a good sign.

Anxiety Among Crowd.

There was more than usual anxiety among the crowd which gathered before the palace awaiting the morning bulletin inasmuch as last night's report had shown that the patient was increasingly feverish and that the infective process was still active. This anxiety on the public's part doubtless was responsible for the fact that, despite a thick fog which enshrouded the palace, there was a constant trickle of visitors to the gates throughout the night. These had considerable difficulty reading the bulletin, being able to do so only by using electric torches or striking matches.

As might have been expected, plans for the royal Christmas have been altered by the king's prolonged illness. Some days ago arrangements for the court to spend Christmas at Sandringham as usual were cancelled and it was stated today that the queen would spend the holiday at Buckingham Palace. Princess Mary also may stay with her parents.

Interest In Wales Homecoming.

London, Dec. 6.—Great public interest has been shown in the home-ward journey of the Prince of Wales. Arrangements have been to hasten his arrival in London, and it was estimated that he would reach here about 5 a. m. Wednesday, after traveling 6,250 miles from Dar-Es-Salaam in less than 10 days.

Newspapers today said it was probable that the Prince shortly would be promoted to General in the Army and Rear Admiral in the Navy. His present rank in the Army is that of a Colonel and in the Navy that of a Captain.

His promotion in the Army would occur in any case some time soon, in view of his length of service, but it was thought that this would be hastened, since he would have to act as Deputy for the King at various important military functions during His Majesty's illness and convalescence.

THREE CASES ARE AGAIN ADJOURNED IN COURT.

Owing to the fact that Attorney Chris J. Flanagan was engaged in the trial of the Fuss case in Supreme court today, all three police court cases in which he was interested were again adjourned. In the trial of Benjamin Garner, a negro, charged with petit larceny, the hearing was adjourned to December 12, in the case of Amelia Machol of Northburgh street, charged with assaulting Anna Clara, an adjournment was taken to December 12, and in the case of William Joy, charged with driving a car while intoxicated, an adjournment was taken until December 27.

CAUGHT ROBBING CLOTHES LINE: THREE MEN JAILED.

George Ross of Yorkers, Leonard Bailey of New Haven, Conn., and Edward Lawlor of Hyde Park, Mass. were arrested for disorderly conduct on Prospect street Wednesday night. One of the trio had robbed a clothes line of a suit of underwear and a cloth. The morning Judge Van Burden in police court sentenced all three men to the county jail for five days.

U. S. 'LOOY' ENDS WAR IN BALKANS

Hoover Says Officers Accepted Arms in Name of "Food Administration."

New York.—A young American lieutenant, acting with no authority whatever, brought to an end the civil war in Montenegro, which followed the World war and accepted the surrender of the two opposing armies in the name of the United States Food Administration.

This funniest chapter of post-war history, heretofore unpublished, has just been revealed by no less an authority than Herbert Hoover.

The story, recounted by Bruce Barton in a recent issue of Cosmopolitan, was brought to light, Barton relates, when he commented casually on an ivory-handled dagger lying on a table in Hoover's Washington home.

Mr. Hoover, telling how he came into possession of the dagger, related the story of the unique Montenegrin surrender which Barton retells in the Cosmopolitan as follows:

Montenegro, which had fought with the Allies in the World war, quickly split into two armed camps after the peace of Versailles to settle an ancient dispute which existed between the clans of the little mountain kingdom. Within a few days the men who had fought side by side were engaged in a bitter civil strife.

Food Brings Truce.

The only neutral was a young American lieutenant who represented the United States food administration. He wired to Hoover in Brussels that the country was starving, and Hoover dispatched a shipment of food. The difficulty was to arrange with the warring Montenegrins to unload it. The lieutenant called a conference of the opposing generals, and after a long discussion it was agreed that Army A should unload during the day; then there would follow a one-hour truce.

During which Army B would come on as the night shift.

The young officer took occasion at the conference to point out the folly of the war.

"You ought to be plowing and getting in your crops," he told them. "This food will soon be exhausted and if you don't raise enough to carry you through next winter, then God help you; the United States won't."

They agreed with him, but said there was no hope.

"Why?"

"Because a war can only end when one side has been defeated. A compromise would be contrary to all precedent in Montenegrin history."

But after another parley, when the ship was unloaded, the chief of Army A advanced a brilliant suggestion.

"We could both surrender to the United States. That would end the war and save our honor," he offered. The other general agreed, and the lieutenant offered to accept the surrenders with both armies drawn up in the main street at four o'clock the next afternoon.

Officer Groves Pending.

It seemed a happy solution. But the ambitious subaltern was awakened in the night by a horrible thought. "I am only a lieutenant," he considered. "What right have I to accept the surrender of two armies in the name of the United States? Suppose Pershing should hear about it; how do I know I shouldn't be shot?"

But before the time for surrender a happy thought had come to him. He would accept the surrenders and end the war—but not in the name of the United States!

At four o'clock the rival forces were drawn up, scowling at each other. The commanders advanced, each bearing an ivory-handled dagger and sword. Between the two ranks strode the lieutenant to accept the arms, then, in a voice that echoed in the near-by mountains, cried:

"I accept the surrender of these armies in the name of the United States Food Administration!"

The first that Hoover learned of how the peace was accomplished was when the lieutenant showed up in Brussels with the ivory-handled daggers and the story. The then food administrator gave the young officer one set of the arms, keeping the other among his most prized mementoes.

A Fog Story.

Connellsville, Pa.—Fog was so dense here one night that Samuel Clark, leaving his house, could not find his way back. When the fog lifted there were five automobiles in his yard. The drivers had become lost and had wandered into the premises.

Banquet With a String.

Music was prohibited during certain hours in the precincts of the college, but one undergraduate found the saxophone more engrossing than his studies. Next day he received a note from the higher authority: "Much against my better judgment, and for the purposes of discipline only, I am compelled to regard your saxophone playing as music."—Christian Register.

Cured His Rapture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. I tried all kinds of medicine, but nothing did me any good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I feel like a new man. I will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation. If you write to me, Eugene M. Patton, Carpenter, 214 Marcellus Avenue, Monticello, N. Y., I will send you a card and show you the way to get it. I have cured many others who are suffering from a life or at least the misery of the rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsion of cod liver oil in a pleasant taste. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritation. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the cod liver oil goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the root of the trouble and checks the growth of the germ. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and other forms of bronchial irritation, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

New York, Dec. 5 (A.P.).—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., was speeding southward today for his annual winter sojourn in the warm climate of Ormond, Fla.

With the eighty-nine-year-old oil king is his customary retinue of nurses and servants. His train is due to reach Ormond tonight.

Wearing familiar goggles and a gray cap with long earflaps, Mr. Rockefeller came to the city yesterday from his estate at Pocantico Hills and boarded the train at Pennsylvania station.

"I am feeling fine and expect an enjoyable stay in Florida," he told his old friend, William Egan, the station master. "I wasn't feeling so good the past summer."

Then he posed winningly for photographers.

"I don't mind being photographed if it isn't done unexpectedly," he remarked. "These flashlights bother me when I'm not looking for them."

Ideal Beau Must Have Job, Say Atlanta Debs

Atlanta, Ga.—A serious-minded man who sends flowers, who does not dance with his eyes closed, a man who has a job, a sense of humor and an automobile, makes the most desirable beau, say members of this year's debutante club here.

"Of course," said one of the society misses by way of amendment, "a car isn't absolutely necessary, but it helps a lot."

But all insisted the man must have a job, and a good job at that. None of this "two can live as cheaply as one" palaver for them. Didn't they know girls who had tried it?

Ideals of the men were not discussed by the debs. "You have to fit the ideals to the man," said one.

As for the type of men the debutantes were noncommittal. There is a tradition that each debutante should have two beaus at the Piedmont Driving club's Halloween dance, one to sit on each side of her at the flower-banked table when members of the debutante club make their first formal appearance to a body. This, one Atlanta woman writer observes, is to "keep the public guessing." So the debutantes refrain from discussion as to whether jades prefer tall, dark-skinned men or blonds.

Locating Fire in Ship Real Task for Experts

New Orleans, La.—One of the hardest jobs for a water-going fire department is finding the fire, says John J. C. Pasley, fire captain of the fire tug Deluge, guardian of New Orleans harbor.

"When a building is burning you can see where and how it is burning. When a ship is afire, however, it's not so easy. It may be afire in any one of 100 places. Generally, though, you can find the fire by searching for the hottest place on the deck. But even after you have done this, your work has just started, because then you have to learn the construction of the ship, the arrangements of bulkheads and hatches, and learn the nature of the cargo."

The Deluge, the captain says, answers about four calls a month in addition to emergency tasks of various kinds.

Fever Is Produced by Radio Alternation

Albany, N. Y.—Artificial fever, caused by radio, without any accompanying illness, is under study here.

Wagner and the Barber.

Wagner's barber—he attended the composer at Wahnfried—tried to carry off some shorn locks of the master's hair. But he had not reckoned with Cosima who carefully gathered up the clippings from her mighty husband's head. However, she latitudes to the crestfallen figure that the hair of their family barber looked exactly like that of the composer of the "Dusk of the Gods."

HEW TO THE LINE.

Now that the Salvation Army, with that admirable adherence to noble and lofty principles that not always characterizes the truly good, has refused to accept for its charity fund any of the profits made by the wicked Sunday movies, its heroic attitude should be greeted with loud acclaim. The Freeman herewith and hereby contributes its quota of the aforesaid acclaim. But the good work should go on to its logical conclusion, thereby accomplishing even greater good to humanity and rendering service in the guardianship of the interests and safety of Jehovah.

There are men who gain portions of their income—wickedly, it is true—from Sunday movies. Some receive pay directly as employees of the theatres and shamelessly admit their connection with these sinks of sin and iniquity. Others there are who receive their share of the proceeds of depravity more indirectly through being employed by concerns, such as The Freeman, the telephone and electric companies, the local bus and trolley companies and others, who do business with the sinful purveyors of Sunday movies. In order to be consistent and true to its sanctified principles in every detail the Salvation Army will, of course, refuse to accept money from any of these men.

This will furnish a shining, glittering, coruscating example of 100 per cent virtue for numerous other pious and uplifting organizations to follow—an example sadly needed in this day of ungodliness and failure to meddle with the morals and private lives of others. A glorious opportunity to become a model that will influence the careless awaits the Army. Some time ago its official organ demanded prohibition of the use of tobacco, but nothing much seems to have been done about it. The Kingston squad in the Army has done something this time. May it continue to expand its activities and how to the line, let the chips—fall where they may.

PENNSYLVANIA WITCHCRAFT.

Witchcraft is widespread among African tribes. The form of it called voodooism is rife in Haiti and is found here and there among the negroes of the Southern States. This is to be expected. What is surprising is that witchcraft still survives among white Americans. All the witches were not burned in Massachusetts long ago. Some of them are still following their forbidden calling and are finding their dupes in Pennsylvania—even "in thriving farming sections within less than fifty miles of Philadelphia," as the Evening Ledger of that city regrettably states, referring to a dispatch from York, Pa., announcing the accidental murder of Nelson D. Rehmer by persons who were following out the instructions of a "witch doctor." The dispatch giving the confessions in part reads:

Hess said that Rehmer had bewitched his family and caused a road they wanted open to be closed. They summoned Blymire, the "pow-wow" doctor, who, by working strange charms in certain ways, was expected to throw off the yoke of Rehmer. The "pow-wow" doctor studied long and earnestly, and finally declared that the evil enchantment could be dispelled by the burial of a lock of hair from Rehmer's head eight feet underground. . . . Blymire, Hess and Curry went to Rehmer with their request, young Hess declared. Investigation disclosed that the farmer also was a votary of voodoo. He would not give up the charms which Blymire desired. A fight ensued. The farmer was struck over the head with a club. . . .

And all this in the twentieth century in a thriving farming community within less than fifty miles from Philadelphia.

THE NEW ENCYCLOPEDIISTS.

Success in one line brings opportunities in others, and particularly in authorship of a sort. The public wants to hear what the famous have to say on any or every subject, whether they have anything to say or not, and whether or not they did.

It is necessary to employ a "ghost writer" to say it for them. So it is not surprising to learn that Mr. "Gene" Tunney has been engaged to write an article on boxing for the new Encyclopedia Britannica. Mr. Tunney is a serious minded young man, much more studious by predisposition and habit than the average winner of fame, and no doubt he will add to what he laboriously extracts from the reference books shabby fruits from his own experience, producing an article of much interest. But whether it will have the encyclopedic quality a detached expert would give it is likely to be questioned in the circles indicated.

The English committee appears to have adopted the policy of press credits and American advertising men, with a view to make the staid old Britannica achieve a popular level and "go" with a bang. At any rate they plan to feature "Gene" Tunney, Henry Ford and other famed but not distinctly literary persons along with George Bernard Shaw, Owen D. Young, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Will Durant and Charles H. Johnson. Doubtless the new Britannica will be more readable, even if not more authoritative, than formerly.

AFTER A GUM BOIL.

You have had a tooth that has given you trouble and some morning you notice a lump on the gum surrounding it. This is what you call a gum boil, and feel thankful that the pus or poison has come to the surface and gets drained out of the mouth. Perhaps you think no more about it for a gum boil is only a gum boil.

What has happened when a gum boil forms? The nerve of the tooth dies, due to decay, the nerve becomes infected and breaks down. Pus forms which causes pain and swelling. This lump breaks down, the pain and swelling disappear, and you feel that as far as that tooth is concerned your troubles are over.

However Dr. W. M. Gardiner, of Cleveland, tells us that the process has only become chronic, and drainage of being into the mouth is now into the system.

You will remember that Dr. Weston Price showed that a little pus from one of these infected teeth, when injected into rabbits, was sufficient to produce disease and even death.

Therefore this tooth, now so quiet and free from pain, and with no gum boil about it, is really more dangerous to the system than when the pus from the gum boil was draining into the mouth, because the stomach and harmless, or at least less harmful.

This infection, absorbed into the blood vessels, can be carried by the blood to all parts of the body including the lining of the heart itself.

What is the thought? That where there is a gum boil, that you do not delay seeing your dentist. He may open it up so as to let it drain into mouth. Then later he will make an examination, including perhaps an X-ray of root, and give necessary treatment, or extract the tooth.

The tooth itself may appear to be quite all right, and you do not like the idea of losing it, nevertheless in the light of what our dentists are now telling us, do not take a chance by leaving it in if your dentist wishes to extract it.

CELEBRATED CANTATA

The cantata, "Euth," by Alfred R. Gaul, given at the First Reformed Church Sunday evening, drew an unusually large audience, and was generally commented upon as being of high merit and of being exceptionally well rendered by the augmented choir under the leadership of W. Whiting Fredenburgh.

Dr. Boere, the pastor, prefaced the singing of the cantata by briefly giving a synopsis of the book of which Euth is the heroine. The characters of the drama were taken as follows: Ruth, Mrs. Benjamin Johnston, soprano; Naomi, Mrs. Charles Franklin Doty, contralto; Orpah, Leonard Stine, bass. Other voices were, sopranos: Miss Frances Osterhout, Miss Mary Ingalls, Miss Florence Tappan, Mrs. Eva Clinton, Helen Winchell and Rosamond Lampman; contraltos, Mrs. H. L. Edson, Mrs. Harry Walker; basses, Donald Lane and R. H. Houghaling; tenors, Mr. La Tour and Frank Elmendorf.

This story has been beautifully set to music by the author and all the scenes in the drama were wonderfully interpreted Sunday evening by organist, by soloists, by quartet and by the fine chorus. Sorrow, as experienced in the threshold homecoming of Naomi, was sung with pathos by Mrs. Doty. The parting scene of the women, sung by Mrs. Doty, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Johnston, was touching.

In Part II, the chorus of singers with its joy and bitterness was a happy contrast with the scene of famine, loss and bereavement. Boaz, the part so well taken by Mr. Stine, here played a leading role. The character was splendidly dramatized. And Euth, memorable forever in her decision, charming decision is expressed; her dignified and warm affection; her strength of a firm conclusion as to duty—all these characteristics were effectively brought out by Mrs. Johnston. The male parts of the chorus were characterized by vigor and vitality. And behind and back of it all was the very able and efficient technique, the mastery of the organ by Mr. Fredenburgh.

The cantata was a treat to the music lovers of Kingston and vicinity, and it was a credit to all who had a share in it.

Ecstasy. "Too beloved!" New life came to me when first I met you—even my watch started running—after having been still for half a year.

Business Girls
Prepare for Xmas

There was a goodly attendance at the Business Girls' Club supper at the Y. W. C. A. on Wednesday evening. In the absence of the president, Miss Mildred Messenger, Miss Ruth Bell, the vice president, presided. Next week, it was announced, the club girls will hold their own Christmas party and there will be a surprise. The announcement was joyfully received. It was further stated by Miss Bell that each girl present Wednesday night would be expected to bring a present costing not more than ten cents and another girl, and this requirement will be placed on all who attend the supper and party.
The girls would like to have every member of the club present. On Saturday afternoon, December 22, at 2 o'clock the Business Girls' Club will give their Christmas party to underprivileged children and Wednesday evening after supper several of the girls stayed and made Christmas stockings to hold candy for the children's party. As there will be many children to be remembered, contributions of money or simple, suitable gifts will be very welcome if received in time before the party, to be wrapped and tied.

At the close of the supper, the girls were addressed by the Rev.
Harrison H. Black, pastor of St.
James M. E. Church, who summed up what he said by expressing his belief in the young people of today as being the cleanest, best educated, most worth while of any period.

falls naturally into the habit of thinking of them together. Green by itself has also become important, one might almost say remains important for it was but a brief space absent. With the resort season at hand, to say nothing of Christmas greens in the air, one recognizes the timeliness of the re-entry of this color.

Rumors concerning the reappearance of beaded dresses are heard in the land and seem to be substantiated by those who have returned from Paris, which it is said begins to manifest interest in beading of certain types among which may be mentioned flat and square, and oblong bugles. Beads strung along the edge of a chiffon or crepe gown may not be the most showy application, but they are effective not only as a decoration but in preserving the line of the draperies on which they are applied. This was a trick practiced by Vionnet, its debut being associated with a faint hydrangea blue crepe, the tiny beads being steel.

The supplementary jacket ap-pearingly termed the cocktail jacket looms large on the holiday horizon.
Spangled and beaded versions suggested themselves as gifts, and when well chosen blend with gowns of many colors, including the pale so-called nursery shades, not confined however to baby blues and pinks but admitting yellows, greens and mauves.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

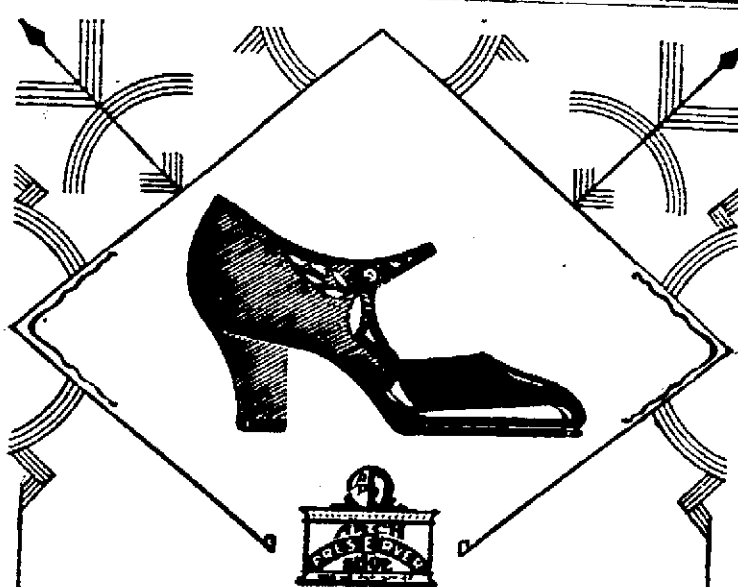

One Piece Rompers.

4979. This simple style is easy to make and very practical. The waist and body portions are combined in one piece. The waist portion to which the pantee portion of the back is fastened, closes at the centre back. This model may be finished without the sleeves, making an ideal garment for warm days, for in or outdoors. For cool days, the long sleeves are a protection. Poncee or cotton prints could be used for this little model. Broadcloth and rep are also desirable. A pretty development would be in printed zephyr with trimming in a matched color.
The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 2, 4, 6 and 8 years. A 4 year size, if made with sleeves, requires 2 yards of 27 inch material. Without sleeves it requires 1 1/2 yards less. Pocket and cuffs of contrasting material require 1/4 yard.

DAWES Buries BOYHOOD CHUM

Vice President Cares for Former Pal Who Became Bowery Bum.

New York.—Almost three score years ago two blue-eyed, low-browed youngsters played tag together in two aristocratic back yards in Marietta, Ohio. Then they flew kites, went boating on the Ohio, and finally played baseball on the same team at Marietta college.

There the trails of the young men parted. They were reunited in a sense recently when one of them, Brandt Hulbert, sixty-five, a Bowery bum, who spent the last ten years of his life sinking up drinks in Bowery dives, was buried at the expense of the other, Charles G. Dawes, Vice President of the United States.

It's a Strange Story.

The strange story of how the Vice President supported and claimed the friend of his childhood after a lapse of almost fifty years was told by Tom Bresnan of Budberry Bend, who befriended the sad-eyed Bowery habitue whose better days had been so much better.

Ten years ago Brandt Hulbert, once a successful engineer, cut his tie with his rather distinguished family and appeared on the Bowery, as many another, ready for a plunge into the abyss that would swallow his identity. "He was always neat and had his hair brushed back over his high forehead," Bresnan said. "No matter how drunk he got he always had his shoes shined and a clean collar from somewhere."

The silent, courteous, sad-eyed patron of the Bowery bars, then fast disappearing, took a dingy room at the Grace hotel on Park row. Winters he worked as a common laborer at construction camps—sometimes. Summers he got odd jobs as a waiter at Coney Island.

But two years ago this strange Bowery character fell ill. He couldn't raise a dime for beer and mulligan or 15 cents for "shot," for even on the Bowery he remained somewhat of an aristocrat, drinking 15-cent drinks of caramel, water and alcohol instead of the nickel-and-dime "smoke."

Steadfastly he refused to appeal to his family. But, when friends urged, he did write a letter to the friend of his childhood, the Vice President.

Vice President's Signature. Thereafter, on the first of every month, a check for $25 from Charles G. Dawes arrived at the Bowery hotel for Brandt Hulbert. The signature of the Vice President became very familiar in Bowery circles.

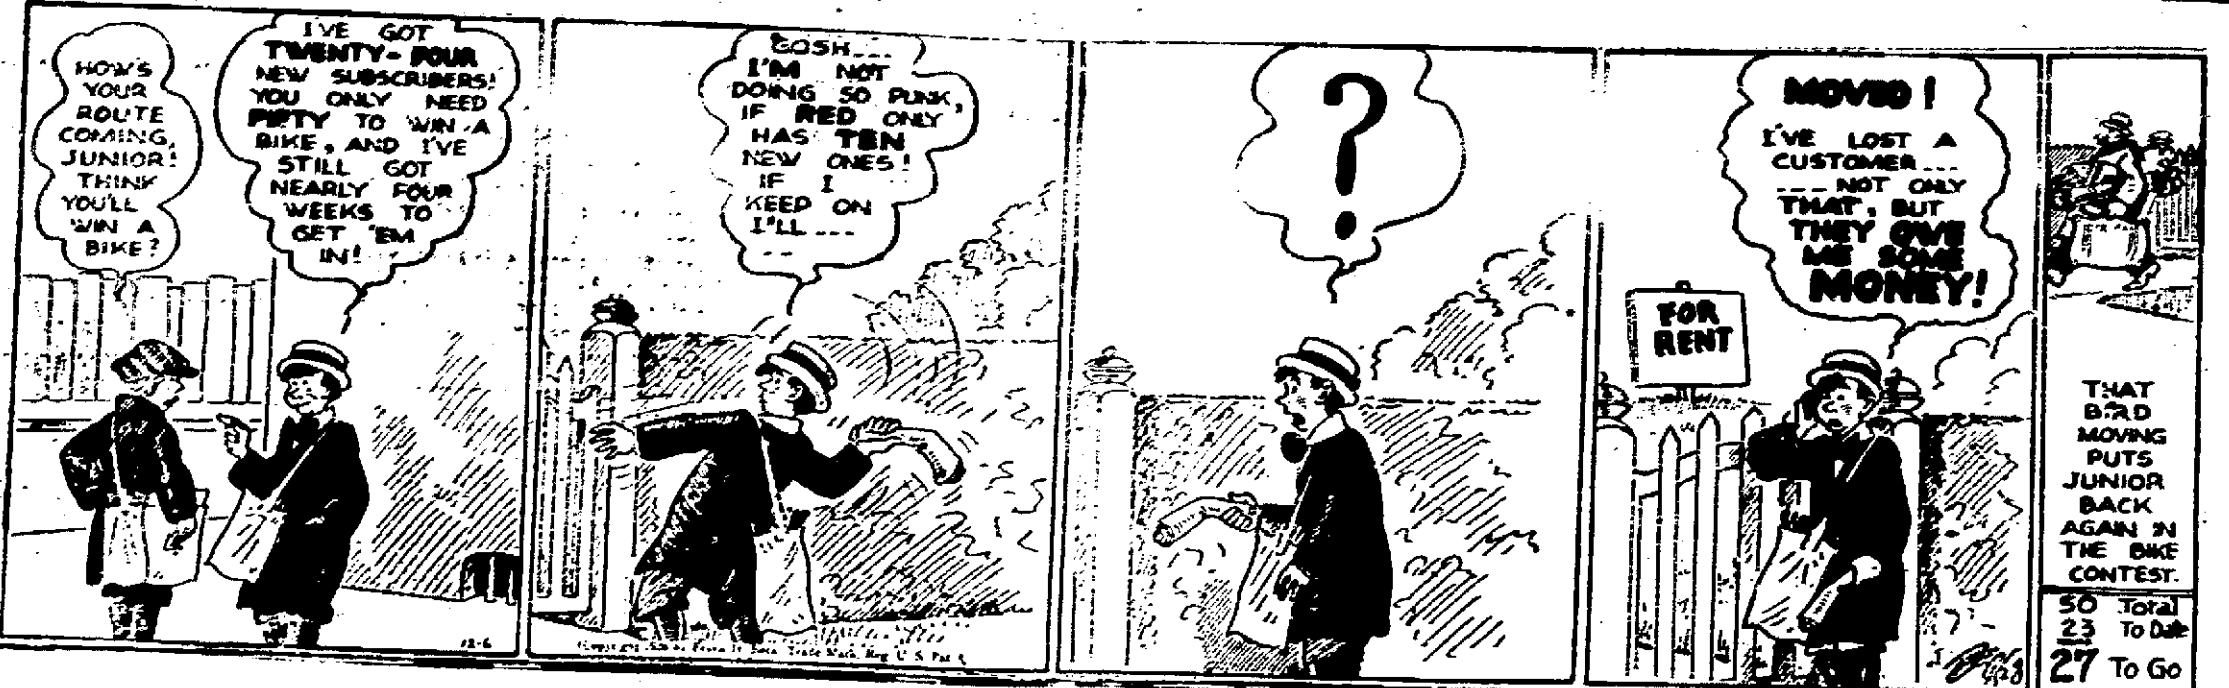

A few days ago the check once more was stricken. An ambulance hurried from Beekman hospital and it was nothing serious, but Hulbert, alone in his dingy hotel room, died the next morning of pleurisy and pneumonia. His body went to a slough in the morgue.

Tom Bresnan heard that Vice President Dawes was in town, the guest of Owen D. Young and Geo. Cornelius Vanderbilt. Then Tom notified the Vice President his friend was dead.

The Vice President left a gathering of his friends and went to dismal Belleville morgue, stayed upon the features of Brandt Hulbert for the last time. Then, asking that the bill be sent to him in Washington, he arranged for the funeral.

On the casket was a wreath from a friend who, traveling the "high road," did not forget his friend who took the other path.

Paris Seeks to Check Use of Bright Lights

Paris.—Too much progress in trying to illuminate Broadway's electric signs has caused a revulsion of feeling against publicity methods and a new code for signs and billboards is being drafted for Paris.

Certain areas around public buildings, certain old churches and interesting historical scenes are to be kept free of signs. Elsewhere the regulations will specify the number, size and character of billboards and signs that may be installed.

"Chick" Meehan Talks to Rotary

"Chick" Meehan, New York University professor of football strategy, football psychologist who openly expresses the belief that brains have more than brawn to do with success on the gridiron, was the big feature at the Rotary luncheon at the Governor Clinton this week. He was accompanied by four others of the N. Y. U. "troopers" on his annual visit to Kingston and all performed for the delectation of the Rotarians. The inimitable T. A. Distler told some stories, "Dutch" Consors talked in praise of football and of "Chick" Meehan and the latter talked some more about football and its usefulness and strategy. The other troopers were Harold Waite, trombone soloist of the N. Y. U. band and Harold Vogt, pianist. Mr. Waite got more music out of his trombone than most of the Rotarians believed could be gotten out of a whole band and Mr. Vogt was fully his equal as a pianist.

It was decided to give $200 from the boys' work fund to the Boy Scouts and a committee of Rotarians was appointed to solicit subscriptions in the Boy Scout drive.

Among the guests introduced was the new manager of the Governor Clinton Hotel, a competent and neat but not gaudy appearing gentleman who bears every evidence of being able to make good on the job.

A Home Is Truly Modern If the Services of Electricity Are Used to Every Possible Advantage

As a result of the labor saving afforded by this silent and efficient service, American families have emerged from the mere routines of housekeeping to a desire for a more complete and harmonious home life.

It is to such home life that electrically driven tools make a distinct contribution. They transform the home workshop into a laboratory where fathers, sons and pals can construct with little effort the creations of their fancies.

THE DELTA HAND SHOP illustrates the latest development in electrical equipment in the modern home. Price so low as to meet any Christmas budget, it makes a gift that will become increasingly useful and comforting.

Millham Enjoys Interesting Trip

New Paltz, Dec. 6.—George Millham has returned from a twelve days' trip through Virginia and West Virginia, making the trip as the guest of Paul Walker, of the Bankers Cooperative Company of Rochester, N. Y. Mr. Millham is a man who sees the interesting tales in the places he visits and can tell about it when he gets home.

The trip was first considered at 5 o'clock in the afternoon on Tuesday, November 12, and at 5:30 the start was made. The first night was spent at Port Jervis, N. Y., the second day they drove to Gettysburg, Pa., the third day they crossed the Potomac at Harper's Ferry and reached Winchester the third night. They spent several days with Winchester as their headquarters, visiting places between the Blue Ridge and Alleghany Mountains. This is the territory of much of the heavy fighting of the Civil War. They went over some of the historic battlefields and spent one night at Staunton in the Shenandoah Valley.

One of the characteristic industries of Virginia and West Virginia is the raising of large herds of Hereford cattle. The Herefords are almost as hardy as the American bison and like them are provided with a heavy coat of thick, long hair. They remain on the range all the year round. Their owners put up large stacks of blue grass hay.

When the natural pasture is poor or covered with snow the Herefords eat this, sometimes reaching their way under it so they are protected from the storms.

The roads in this section are extremely good. They are built by prison labor. Prison labor provides good roads without heavy taxation, but it prevents the laboring man from getting more than the lowest price for his services. Many of the convicts have the appearance of innocent people. They work chained to a heavy ball with armed guards standing over them.

There are many large apple orchards in this section, mostly young trees, some containing upwards to 1,000 acres. Mr. Millham saw the champion apple picker, who has the record of picking 15 barrels in one day. It is possible here to raise exceptionally good fruit of most of the standard varieties except McIntosh, Spies and Greenings. The apples are large, delicious and well colored, but bruise easily and will not save as well as northern grown fruit. The storage plants are large. The largest one Mr. Millham visited was of 300,000 barrel capacity.

The cooper shops also are large. Mr. Millham's coöperage has always been considered a large and up-to-the-minute factory but Mr. Millham modestly says that the greatest number of barrels he has turned out in a year is 80,000 and in Virginia and West Virginia a coöperage shop that does not turn out 200,000 barrels a year is considered a common one. Practically all the apples from this section are barreled and most of them go for export.

ONE BOTTLE LASTS 2 MONTHS

Insists His Discovery Opens Up Catarrh Stuffed Nostrils In Three Minutes—Sometimes Less

Advices All Catarrh Victims to Throw Away Sto mach Medicines. End Loathsome Catarrh with Opex and Get Rid of Disgusting Mucous Forever.

30 Days Free Trial Says McBRIDE'S (3 DRUG STORES)

Catarrh, one of the most loathsome of diseases, is caused by germs—wicked, vicious, persistent pests that multiply rapidly and by digging into and devouring the tender membrane cause soreness, swelling, inflammation and mucous discharges.

A few years ago, Catarrh was considered incurable, because no one was clever enough to get together a formula that would spread over the membranes of the nasal tract a purifying substance in which catarrh germs could not exist.

But Opex changed all that and now all you have to do to get rid of catarrh is to spray on Opex and send the germs to eternity.

Just note the picture showing how Opex puts catarrh out of business. See the steam-like smoke going into one nostril and out the other.

When you use Opex you see the healing, purifying vapor as fine as smoke coming thru the nostrils—and it will come thru no matter how stuffed up they are. That's the way to end catarrh and to lessen those annoying, ringing, buzzing noises in the ears. Many people say it is the only way.

The price of a bottle of Opex that will last two months is $1.00—it is easily worth one hundred dollars to any man or woman who wants clean healthy nostrils free from disgusting mucous.

Opex will end the most stubborn case of catarrh in a few days, because it soothes and heals the sore, inflamed membranes, reduces the swelling and purifies the entire nasal tract.

To make it easy for catarrh sufferers in this vicinity to secure a bottle of Opex and a specially constructed Opex atomizer, McBride's (3) Drug Stores has agreed to keep a supply on hand at all times and will gladly show anyone how easy it is to get rid of disgusting catarrh at trifling cost.

Opex is for sale only at McBride's (3) Drug Stores with the distinct understanding that if you are not satisfied at the end of 30 days your money will be gladly returned. Opex is delightful to use because of its wholesome fragrance.

Senior Sunday School League

In the Senior Sunday School League games played at the Y. M. C. A. court Wednesday night all the winning teams rolled up big scores. The Presbyterians defeated St. John's, 46-22; Redeemers beat Albany Avenue, 48 to 16, and the Congregationals scored an overwhelming victory over the Trinity, 72 to 12.

The Presbyterians started off by scoring 12 points before their opponents tallied. They continued this scoring throughout the first half which terminated with the score, Presbyterians, 32; St. John's, 2.

In the second half the St. John's team played a better defensive game holding their opponents to 14 points while they gathered 19. Had the Presbyterians not piled up such a big lead in the beginning probably the game would have ended in a more interesting fashion. The final score was 46 to 22.

The feature about the games was that the winners in each tilt collected most of their points in the first half while their opponents only scored 2 and 3 points in the first period. This was the case in the Redeemer-Albany Avenue battle. The Redeemers took the lead by a safe margin in the first few minutes to play and at half time the tally was 26 to 2 in favor of the Redeemers.

In the second half the winners practically made the score adding 22 points to their previous tally while their opponents' biggest point harvest came in the second session sinking six field goals and two foul points. When the game was called the Redeemers were far in the lead, 48 to 16.

The last game was nothing but a big scoring period for the Congregationals. Krum rolled up 28 points and Cassell 24 for the winners. They were the two-big point getters for the Congregationals while Jones was high scorer for the Trinity five gathering only 4 marks. At half time the Congregationals had 40 points to the Trinity 2.

The second period was a little better at times than the first session. Now and then the Trinity men would sink a shot but at no time in the game did they stage a rally. The score was Congregationals 72, Trinity 12, when the final whistle blew.

"MASKED MARVEL" DISPLAYS ABILITY AT BILLIARDS

Wednesday night, Coca Cola Billiard Parlor of Nick Kaslich to play any local player and in the event that the local player should win, to give him a cash prize.

B. J. Berinato of this city was his opponent but all he did was to act as one of the many spectators. The marvel scratched his first and second shots and then after a run of 14 balls ran 71 when a difficult break shot followed by a scratch ended his run. The game ended with the "Marvel" winning 125 to 25.

There were many fans at the parlor to witness the match and many of the old time billiard players were on hand. They all agreed, the "Marvel" looked like championship material and it was rumored that he was a former professional "champ," and his name was also mentioned, but the Coca Cola people prefer to have his identity remain secret.

During the match there were several representatives of the Coca Cola people on hand serving free drinks of Coca Cola.

After the match, the "Marvel" gave an exhibition of trick shots that left puzzled looks upon the faces of many billiard enthusiasts, many of the shots seeming impossible, to the amateur billiardist.

Gouverneur—Freeman Hitchcock, a farmer living near here, recently captured a large Arctic owl in a trap on the top of a pole. The bird measured five feet, ten inches from wing tip to wing tip. Hitchcock missed several turkeys from his flock and set the trap which caught the bird by one foot.

Olean—Local police have recovered every automobile stolen within the city this year.

Hudson Falls—Ernest Lee of this village recently had a piece of shrapnel removed from his leg where it had been embedded for the past ten years. During the World War, Lee was struck by shrapnel but the piece in his leg did not bother him until a few weeks ago when infection developed. It was found that a portion of the leg bone had decayed and it was removed.

Oneida—During 1928, 14 towns in Madison county will spend $6,750 in maintaining 124 miles of state highway within their limits. Eaton leads the list with 29.26 miles of state highways, with Sullivan second with 19.81 miles and Lenox third with 15.65.

Elizabethtown—During recent warm weather, unusual for this section of the state in November, trailing arbutus with both buds and blossoms was found in the woods.

MORGAN HILL
Morgan Hill, Dec. 5—Mrs. Bernard Ramos and children of New York are guests at Morgan Mountain Lodge. Mrs. Ramos, who was quite ill in the city, feels already on the road to complete recovery.

All in the community are glad to know that Arno Barthel is recovering from his recent illness. # THE CHRISTMAS GIFT THAT KEEPS ON GIVING! ATWATER KENT RADIO

We add our guarantee to 1090 others

AMONG the 8,000 workers in the Atwater Kent factory are 1090 sharp-eyed men who do nothing but test or inspect Atwater Kent Radio. They put it through 222 tests or inspections in the course of manufacture. When, after the last test—actual receipt of broadcast signals—they say it's right, you can bet your bottom dollar it is right.

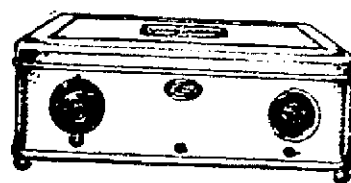

They've tested it for tone. They've tested the FULL-VISION Dial for speed and accuracy. They've tested the built-in power unit that takes electricity from the lamp socket. They've examined it inside and out to make sure that the range and power and dependability we say are here, are here.

2,000,000 owners of Atwater Kent Radio know that these watchmen attend to their jobs. And the big scale production necessary to satisfy such a demand makes the 1929 Model 40 easier to own.

You can't go wrong on such radio as this. We guarantee Model 40 and your satisfaction.

Rheumatism —Lumbago

LEAVE YOU FOREVER Allerhu Must Bring Relief in 24 to 48 Hours or Money Cheerfully Refunded.

If a full pint bottle of Allerhu, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, Dedrick's Drug Store or any other druggist will gladly return your money without comment.

Allerhu has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished even in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiable and where the patient was helpless.

Dedrick's Drug Store desires all sufferers to know that it does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allerhu definitely conquers this worst of all diseases, and therefore guarantees it is above in every instance.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

New York—Modern girls, in the opinion of E. A. Hungerford, of the New York Y. M. C. A., are too materialistic, too insistent that their husbands be rich and handsome. They won't give serious thought to anything less than $5,000 a year while a man can marry the right kind of a girl on $2,400. Hungerford's views are given in the association's publication.

Los Angeles—Love may laugh at locksmiths, but not at movie contracts. Jean Arthur of the screen was under written obligation not to wed, but she married Julian Anker last July. Now she is seeking an annulment. The petition avers that she and her husband separated forthwith after a secret marriage.

New York—If Ken Strong, star back, did any holding during the football season, it would have cost $15. U. S. 15 yards. But he's done some holding since then that has occasioned congratulations. He has had his picture taken holding hands and huddling with Miss Rella Harrison, musical comedy actress. They are engaged.

Los Angeles—Noah H. Beery, Jr., screen villain, is being sued for divorce. Mrs. Beery accuses him of being a villain at home. She avers that once she had to flee at the point of a pistol.

Southampton, England—There's a mystery about a one-pound gun mounted on the forecabin of A. K. Macomber's new yacht Crusader, just launched here. Guesses are that he is to shoot fish or protect himself against pirates in Chinese waters, where he is going on a cruise.

New York—Miss Rosabelle De Long, opera singer back from Venice, says the Gondoliers now are singing mostly "Old Man River" and "On Moonlight Bay," and as a consequence the tourist feels as if he is bound for Coney Island instead of the Piazza San Marco.

Detroit—Any motorist who has been convicted nine times of violating the traffic laws, in the opinion of Judge Cotter, needs a mental examination. He sent William A. Dyer, taxi driver, to the psychopathic ward.

New York—Al Ka'man, who calls himself king of hoboes, has arrived from Montreal arrayed in a fifty new tailor-made suit and wearing appurtenances, including spats. He is trying to raise money for a hobo's hotel on Fifth avenue, right near the Waldorf.

New Haven—A band was on the stage during a theatrical performance. On went an alarm clock in the audience, then another, then a third and so on till six were busy. The management concluded that the Yale boys disliked the band.

Washington—Notwithstanding anti-parking regulations it is all right to park one's car in front of one's home long enough to get into it. The chauffeur of Mr. Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes got a ticket in a restricted zone just as the justice was leaving his house for the court. In police court Judge McMahon decided there had been an outrage.

New York—First guesses are that the boys who recently have been working overtime to keep track of sales of stock for brokers will share in a billion dollar Christmas bonus at Wall Street.

Foreign Missionary Meeting.
The Foreign Missionary Society of Clinton Avenue M. E. Church will hold a regular business meeting at the home of Mrs. C. Van Williams, 135 Prospect street, Friday at 2:30 p. m.

Alvey Freed By Abductors

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 6 (AP).—Ed. Alvey, wealthy "bookie" and gambler, returned to his home about one o'clock this morning, after being held captive 54 hours. Alvey was put out of an automobile in a suburb, without having to pay ransom. Adhesive tape, bound about his eyes from the time of his capture, until after the abductors had fled, prevented him from identifying the three men who kidnapped him.

After reaching his home early this morning Alvey said he had not been mistreated by his captors and added that the three men who kept him prisoner "talked and acted as gentlemen."

Alvey said he had been taken prisoner about 6:10 o'clock Monday night while out for a walk in front of his home. An automobile drove to the curb, he said, and the driver asked him if he wanted to ride downtown.

After replying that he did not, Alvey declared, one of the occupants of the car leaped out, covering him with a pistol and forced him to enter the automobile.

Darkness, he said, prevented him from obtaining a good view of his captors, and he was able to give police only a scant description.

After entering the car, he said, two men placed adhesive tape over his eyes and from that moment until the time he was put out of the car in the suburb, he did not know where he had been confined.

Alvey said that in conversations with the kidnappers, the question of ransom had been discussed, but that no formal demand had been made to him.

The bookmaker expressed an opinion that the abductors had experienced "cold feet" and abandoned plans for ransom because of widespread publicity and police activity.

Heating the Oven.
In England ovens are heated with dogs. Other countries use more popular in some sections than the traditional for heat. The dogs take to the water after the oven, endeavoring to corner him in a small stream. Acetylene gas is sometimes used to drive the dogs from their holes in river banks and under stumps. Good other bounds bring high prices.

Courtesy speeds the service

Nearly twenty-four million people talk to each other every day over the lines of this company.

Business and social conversations, good news and bad, smiles and tears, calls of pressing emergency, messages on which life and property depend, pour back and forth over the telephone wires, day and night.

And courtesy is present in almost every call. With operators at switchboards introducing these millions of people—with other telephone employees in offices and outside forces, meeting more thousands daily—we find that with rare exception this vast public is considerate and courteous.

Without this understanding relationship it would be indeed difficult if not impossible to carry on the huge volume of business negotiated today by telephone. It contributes an element essential to the speed and success of telephone service.

It is a striking illustration of what Lord Chesterfield aptly called "the infinite advantage of good manners."

At the January meeting, joint with the Farm Bureau Board the following officers of the Farm and Home Bureau Association were elected: President, Millard Davis; vice president, Mrs. H. M. Eppes; secretary, treasurer, E. W. Hathaway. In May and July joint sessions were held to make plans for the Farm and Home Bureau picnic held in August. In October a budget to the amount of $4,033 was adopted for 1928-29, and was presented to the Farm Bureau Board at the November meeting for adoption.

Advisory Council. The Advisory Council of the Ulster County Home Bureau consists of the community committee women from all organized communities in the county. It meets once a year for the purpose of arranging a program of work for the year. This meeting was held in Kingston, June 1, 1928.

65 committee women from 14 organized communities were present. Chairmen from the 14 communities gave a report of the year accomplished during the year. Miss Margaret O'Connor of the State Department of Health was the speaker of the afternoon. Her subject was "The Optimal Child." Two Ulster county children were presented to show characteristics one can expect in the optimal child.

Following the lecture the county program for the coming year was adopted as follows:

a. Nutrition. Recommended by the county nutrition committee and adopted that give a study of the house from the

the following nutrition program be carried out in the county:

1st. That a choice of one of the following projects each consisting of three lessons be given in the county:

a. Meal planning for family with special reference to weight control.

b. Food selection with reference to good digestion.

2nd. That elementary food selection be available for any new units that may be organized the coming year.

3rd. That all subject matter teaching in nutrition in the county be carried out through a specialist, county manager and district leaders.

Also, that each community have a local leader responsible for promotion of the nutrition program in her community throughout the year.

4th. Since feeding in early years is so important, and since so many children are rachitic and have digestive problems we recommend that in every unit where there is a request for information on child feeding that either through cooperation with a pre-school clinic or in special meetings, information be given along this line.

5th. That every unit cooperate with the Home Bureau office in obtaining information regarding the establishment of a satisfactory school lunch in the districts represented by the unit.

6th. That as far as possible all communities have a meeting to which the public may be invited, at which nutritional information will be given through health plays, an illustrated talk, a movie, exhibit, etc.

It was suggested by the nutrition committee last year that children be cared for so that mothers can attend meetings. No report has been received of any community having done this. Since this has been successfully carried out in other counties, we, the nutrition committee, again recommend that some communities in Ulster county try this out and send in a report for Advisory Council next year. We further suggest that conveyance to the meetings be furnished for the young mothers who would otherwise be unable to attend meetings. We urge this more on the part of Home Bureau groups to encourage better attendance at nutrition meetings on the part of young mothers.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. H. M. EPPES, Chairman.

MISS BERTHA MILLER, Vice Chairman.

MRS. GEORGE LA WARE, Secretary.

MRS. C. MORTON SCIPLO, Treasurer.

MRS. HARRY WELLS, Secretary.

MISS DORA SONNENDAY, Treasurer.

MISS EVELYN NANCE, Secretary.

c. Dramatics.

It was voted by the council to have a county contest in dramatics, the winner of which should enter the inter-county contest. It was voted to have the contest open to any community group wishing to enter. Any play on the approved list at the college could be staged, whether or not it had been previously staged in the county.

Working lessons, involving results for quality of design, color and technique. 7. Summary, judgment and technique.

Plans for carrying out the course to be made with specialists at the college.

g. Housing.

A house furnishing course was voted to be given in one center in the county, the center chosen to depend upon the section of the county showing the greatest interest in the project. The course is designed to give a study of the house from the following view point. The project consists of four lessons, given about one month apart, chiefly devoted to the study of housekeeping, furniture arrangement, color, decorative flowers sent to the sick, and community quota met.

A special all-day meeting was held in one community where the women of the Home Bureau did sewing for the Near East Relief, and for the missionaries in southern states.

Altogether two large boxes were sent to the Near East Relief. Flowers were sent to the sick. A magazine exchange has been inaugurated and a traveling library is being installed. A voluntary contribution is taken at each meeting which keeps the treasury supplied. Membership quota was doubled, so no quota money had to be sent to the county office.

One community has a savings account accumulating to be used later for money community enterprises. Money raised at socials and rally days through collections and food sales.

Sewing bees were held in one community where Christmas gifts were made for the sale at the Home Bureau office. Almost 100 attended a supper and evening of games in this community where $53.00 was raised for a community Christmas tree.

The Christmas event was a great success. There was community singing and other entertainment and a gift for every child in the community.

A diphtheria clinic was held in one community where the local health officer immunized 46 children. Home Bureau women made a house canvass to interest all parents in signing up their children for the clinic.

Through a food sale money was raised to pay rent on a building to house the Home Bureau library. This community has maintained a Home Bureau library for several years. From small beginnings with a few volumes from a traveling unit, it is now a permanent library of over 300 volumes.

A local talent play staged in several communities helped one community to raise money for its quota. This community is also buying and presenting to its local grange, footlights to be used when plays are staged. A poor family in the community is receiving help from the Home Bureau.

h. Joint Community Meetings.

Joint Farm and Home Bureau community meetings were held in seven communities this fall. Accord and Kerkhouson held a joint meeting held a joint meeting at Malden. Home Talent plays, community sings, and other entertainment were enjoyed by the communities participating. 940 people enjoyed these community get-togethers.

i. Joint Community Winter Institutes.

Winter institutes were held in Accord, Asbury, Gardiner, Hurley, Modena, New Paltz and Stone Ridge. At all meetings, except the Stone Ridge, Home Bureau served hot lunch at noon. The Home Bureau speakers were Mrs. Mary T. Monroe, who spoke on "Property Rights," and Miss Jennie Jones, whose subject was "Our Civic Responsibilities." 372 was the total attendance at all meetings.

j. Joint Community Committee Meetings.

In all communities in Ulster county where there are both Farm and Home Bureaus organized, joint community meetings were held in the amount of food project. 102 were present. Results from teaching the Amount of Food project in the county are as follows:

Number reporting having had a physical examination..... 80

Number reporting using food selection score card as a standard for meal planning..... 63

Number including more iron and lime rich foods and good quality protein in diet..... 64

Number taking cod liver oil regularly through the winter for the first time..... 30

Number (who were underweight)..... 23

Number (who were overweight)..... 9

Number reporting better posture..... 28

Number reporting fewer colds..... 105

Number reporting fewer headaches..... 51

Number reporting less constipation..... 67

Number reporting additional improvements in health..... 49

60 people attending these meetings report passing nutrition information on to 441 people.

Interesting extracts of nutrition reports sent into the county office: "My neighbor's child has been wonderfully benefited by cod liver oil." "My chum and myself are both the same age, same height and measure almost the same all around. We both decided we should like to lose some excess weight. And through practicing the nutrition teaching of the Home Bureau, have both lost weight. We have 20 pounds more to lose and expect to do it. Counting calories is hard sport." "While at first we had to try many different schemes to get a young child, he is now taking a quart a day, is gaining in weight, and his general health is much improved." Many other cases could be cited showing the value of nutrition teaching in the county.

k. Project Work.

The fitting project was given in the county this year. This course was given in the communities of Accord, Flatbush, High Falls, Napanoch, New Paltz and West Hurley. # The SANDMAN STORY

BOTHERSOME CLOTHES

MAGGIE was tired of doing the same things every evening and the same things every morning. She thought really it was rather foolish and decidedly a waste of time. Every night she spent so long getting off her clothes and putting them on the back of a chair, and every morning it took quite a little while to get dressed.

She Looked About Her and Felt a Little Uncomfortable.

Now she would have a great deal more time if she didn't do this. Particularly it would be nice to have all that extra time on a Saturday morning when there was no school. She had thought about this for some time. Yes, every single evening she did the very same things. First came off her shoes and stockings and then her dress and then everything else she had been wearing all day. And just the same performance day after day and night after night!

It was one Friday that Maggie finally made up her mind. Of course, she knew that she would not be able to do this every night. Once in a while she would have to take off her clothes—in fact, most nights she would have to do this, she supposed. There was her bath to be taken every other night, anyway. Sometimes every night! And one couldn't take a bath in one's clothes. There wouldn't be any sense to that. But still—to do exactly the same thing every night—to take off the same clothes and put them back of the same chair in just the same way, and to put them on in the morning in just the same way, too! Well, once in a while she could do differently, and that would be pleasant. It would be such a relief from the usual way, which was such a silly habit that all people seemed to have. So on this Friday, when Maggie had finally made up her mind, she said to the family and went off to bed.

She took off her shoes. It would not be very comfortable to sleep with her shoes on, and besides it would not be nice to get into the clean bed with her shoes on which had been everywhere—in the yard, out in the street—all over.

But it wouldn't take a moment in the morning to put on her shoes.

That she would do. It was not a bad habit to take off one's shoes at night and put them on again in the morning.

But that was all she would do for this time. She wouldn't even wash her face. That was clean enough. It didn't look dirty, and besides she would wash it in the morning.

She looked about her and felt a little uncomfortable because everything had become such a habit that she felt at a loss to know at once how to begin with this new scheme of things.

But, of course, she simply had to get straight to bed. She didn't think anyone would see her. She had a room all by herself and she had always said good-night to all the members of the family.

In the morning it would be so delightful. She would wash her face and put on her shoes. She would be ready for play in a very short time and have a splendid long day off.

It was strange—that was because of the habit—but her dress was most uncomfortable. Well, she decided she would take that off. She would get that all muddled up anyway and then that wouldn't take long to put on in the morning.

So she took off her dress. Then she got back into bed once more.

Her stockings felt very uncomfortable, and she couldn't make up her mind whether she felt cold with them on because she wasn't close enough to the nice, soft sheets, or whether she felt too warm with them on.

She turned this way and that, and everything seemed to be in her way. Oh, how long she stayed awake. Surely it was not because of the clothes.

When she at last fell asleep, it seemed that she woke right up again—although that couldn't have been because it was daylight now. Oh, how uncomfortable she felt.

It was a foolish habit perhaps, but yet maybe it was a pretty good habit after all to wear night-clothes at night and daytime clothes in the daytime only.

New System for Telephone Bills

The first bill, dated December 6, which telephone subscribers in the Kingston exchange will receive under the new plan of rendering charges for service, will be issued in a few days, according to Stuart M. English, manager of the New York Telephone Company.

The bill, which is being issued under the plan known as "Rotation Billing", will cover charges for a somewhat irregular period in order to adjust the old billing periods to the new billing periods. The charge for exchange service, which will be shown on the new bill, covers the period from December 1 to January 6, inclusive. The toll charges on the new bill will include items from October 16 to December 5, inclusive, which is the day preceding the date of the bill. Heretofore such items have appeared on the bills only up to the 15th of the preceding month.

Subsequent bills issued under the "Rotation Billing" plan will carry an exchange service charge for one month following the date of the bill and charges for toll service for one month preceding the date of the bill.

Mr. English explained today that the telephone subscribers in Eastern New York have been divided into six approximately equal groups, the bill for each group being mailed about five days after the date appearing on the bill. Until the present time all bills were going out the first of the month but with the change in billing practice the work will be spread throughout the month and it will be possible for us to give our patrons a better billing and business office service. In addition the subscriber receives a more up-to-date bill.

The new bills are being prepared on machines instead of in longhand. This practice eliminates the necessity of the handwriting of a number of different clerks.

Mr. English said each subscriber received a notice in their last regular bill on November 1 and that another is being enclosed in the first "rotation" bill explaining the plan and indicating the period covered by the charges.

Local telephone employees will be glad to answer questions or furnish additional information regarding the new plan.

Why We Do What We Do

By M. K. THOMSON, Ph. D.

WHY BABIES ARE HELPLESS

OF ALL baby animals the human infant is the most helpless. The new-born colt has extremely long legs and is quite wobbly. But in a remarkably short time he is able to run about and shift for himself. The same is true of the young of all the herding animals. The safety of the herd depends on the speed of the youngest and weakest members, hence even the new born among them must be able to keep up with the herd.

The period of babyhood for a colt is three to four years, that of the calf is from one to two years, etc., approximately one-fifth of the normal span of life for the species. Man is the exception to this rule. His period of infancy is about twenty-five years. It seems like a great waste of time to spend half of one's life getting ready to live.

This is the chief reason why the human species is superior to all the other animals. The longer the period of infancy the better chance there is to become adjusted to new conditions and learn new ways. What seems like a great handicap is in reality a tremendous advantage in the struggle of life.

Babies remain plastic for a long period in order to adjust themselves more favorably to the conditions of life. If the infant were to become an adult in a few years he would have that much less time to acquire new ways. Animals live mostly by instinct because that is all they have to go by. The bumble bee is said to be as big the day he is born as he will ever be.

The long period of infancy means opportunity for growth and development. Blessed is the man who maintains this period to the day of his death so far as it is mentally if not physically possible. The moment a plant ceases to grow it has begun to die. The moment a human being stops growing mentally he is already dead. He is walking around to avoid funeral expenses.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

O, LITTLE TOWN OF BETHLEHEM

O, little town of Bethlehem,
How still we see thee lie:
Above thy deep and dreamless sleep
The silent stars go by.

FAMILIAR to all lovers of hymns are these and the succeeding lines of one of our most popular sacred songs, "O, Little Town of Bethlehem."

The song had its origin on a Christmas eve in a spirit and environment that has been preserved in its words.

It was first sung in Trinity church, Boston, in 1893, as part of a Sunday school service. Its author was the well-known rector of Trinity, Phillips Brooks. Nationally known, even in those days, for his abhorrence of religious bigotry and theological wrangling and frankly an evolutionist, Doctor Brooks was fundamentally a very religious man who exemplified in the life he lived the tenets of true Christianity.

It was on a Christmas eve, as he stood awe-struck and greatly moved in an old church in Bethlehem, close to the spot where, according to tradition, Christ was born, that the words of this hymn came to him. And in the words he penned he captured for future generations the spirit of the place which so affected him. The music for the song was written, at the request of Doctor Brooks, by the organist of Trinity, Lewis Redner.

A BOARDER WHO CAME FOR REST CURE

MRS. BASSETT was worried. Her best room, the front one with the bay window, was vacant after having been occupied three years by one person. Mr. Patten had gone away and she did not expect to find his like again. As for the room, it might stand empty a long time, and that would be serious at this juncture. For Mrs. Bassett needed every penny she could get now that her young son John was undergoing all that expensive treatment for curvature at the Crittenden hospital.

Mrs. Bassett was small and gray and tired looking, yet she never admitted feeling fatigue. How could she with all that she had to do? With seven boarders and nobody but Annie Wood to help her a day now and then, she could not stop to think whether her head or her heels ached. She must keep going, for expenses did, and she must keep smiling, for nobody would stay long with a cross-looking landlady.

Now, however, when the kitchen door bell rang the smile into which she instantly adjusted her features was a mere shadow of joy. That ring might mean, and probably did, that somebody with a patent measuring cup or dusting cloth would pounce upon her with his woe. Yet she had to smile just the same, for one never knew, except that prospective boarders always came to the front door.

A young woman was waiting for her, quite a young woman, in a dark blue dress and cape with a gray kimmer collar and a small gray hat. A suitcase, presumably heavy, sat at her feet. Her face was tired and sad, but Mrs. Bassett thought instantly that it was the sweetest face she had ever seen. And her voice matched the face.

"I saw the card in your window," she said. "Room to let? I should like it, please."

"Come in," said Mrs. Bassett. She thought: "Probably she won't want to pay so much, but that is my price."

The young woman looked around, up and down and smiled.

"It is very nice. I will take it, please. And may I have board as well?"

She didn't seem to mind about the price at all. In fact, she didn't seem to mind anything except that she was so extremely glad to have a place to rest in.

At dinner she appeared and took her place quietly. Mrs. Bassett introduced her to the other boarders, who were all there except Mr. Thayer. He didn't appear until after the roast was served.

"I'm sorry, Mrs. Bassett," he said in his charming way. "But there was a whole dish that had to be accounted for in order to make the books balance, and we all had to stay."

Mr. Thayer sat next to Miss Jane Wells and spoke to her once or twice. Mrs. Bassett thought: "What a nice-looking couple they would make!" She was fond of Mr. Thayer, who had been with her for two years. She knew that he was just what she looked to be—honest and direct and clean-hearted, one of those healthy, blond young fellows whose characters keep them out of temptation and whose ambition leads them to success.

It was Miss Willows who tried to find out something about Jane Wells. Miss Willows always found out about everybody. She prided herself on being able to size a person up after a half hour's acquaintance. But she could not size up Jane. Her questions were evaded so skillfully that she found herself in the predicament of a person swimming against a strong current—she made endless effort without getting anywhere. Still, it was not in her nature to give up.

Jane Wells, it appeared, must be taken or left as they found her. She had nothing to say for herself. She was there and that was all there was about it. Where she came from or where she was going and when—nobody could know. And how she could afford to occupy Mrs. Bassett's best room was perhaps the greatest mystery of all for she did nothing with her time except read and walk and eat and sleep. Each day she grew fairer to behold and each day Roland Thayer looked at her with growing love and admiration.

Two weeks had passed when one day Miss Willows found the clew she had been looking for. Jane Wells was going out with a letter to post and she dropped the letter. Instantly Miss Willows, who was just behind her, snatched it up and before she relinquished it she had seen the address—"Mr. Felix Marvel," with the street number and town; a town not a million miles away. So the fair Jane was an admirer! Well, she must tell Roland Thayer, and she did.

Indeed, she went even farther. She went to Mrs. Bassett and filled that good woman's mind full of doubt and perplexity.

"I am sure," Miss Willows said, "that Jane Wells isn't her name and that she isn't what she pretends to be. I am sure she is in hiding. Every body else in this house gets mail except Jane Wells. Why, she hasn't even had an answer to her letter."

"Oh, dear, Miss Willows, I don't believe any wrong of her," Mrs. Bassett sighed. And then she was afraid to say more lest she offend her old boarder. After all, that was the one thing she must do of all others—keep on the right side of all the people under her roof.

Miss Willows whispered in every ear. Roland laughed at her. Mrs. Marvel shook her head. Julia Lanning stared astonished. It didn't seem possible, but Miss Willows must know what she was talking about.

Gradually there came a change toward Jane Wells. A glance, a word, an act revealed it to her. She withdrew into herself and from everybody except Roland Thayer. To him she seemed to turn as if for protection at breakfast, at lunch. But when dinner-time came she didn't appear.

She had gone, Mrs. Bassett said—paid her bill and gone. She had left no word. She had simply stepped back into the oblivion from which she had emerged. Not a single trace was left behind her.

That evening Roland Thayer sought Mrs. Bassett where she sat in her tiny private "den" looking over accounts.

"Do you think Miss Willows had anything to do with Miss Wells' going?" he demanded. He looked gray and lagged and Mrs. Bassett pitied him. The dear boy!

"No, I don't," she answered. "I think she was ready to go anyway. She said two or three weeks when she came."

"What is your idea of it all?" pleaded Roland, gazing upon his landlady with agonized eyes.

"Why—I think she came for a rest cure," Mrs. Bassett replied.

Roland knotted and unknotted his hands.

"I love her," he said. "I don't know where she came from or why. I only know I am going to follow her and find her and win her if she is to be found, unless she is already married." Sweat broke out on his temples. "That man whom she wrote to—" He sprang up.

"You are going?" exclaimed Mrs. Bassett.

"Now—to find him. I'll rout him out of his bed. I'll—"

Mrs. Bassett looked up at him gently.

"I know, knowing her, that you will find everything all right," she said.

Hard to Escape From Indian Thief Tracker

In India the great enemy of thieves is the khaji, whose name signifies "searcher" or "tracker" and whose business is to track criminals by their footprints. These trackers are trained to their calling from youth and become exceedingly expert. They are on especial terror to the cattle stealers, who, in the parts of the Punjab adjoining the Indus and other large rivers, where much grazing is carried on, are very plentiful. These match their cunning against that of the tracker but they have to be very clever to throw him off the scent.

One of their tricks is to catch a buffalo, drive it into the river, and, clinging to its tail, guide it in the way they desire to go. By this means they are quickly carried down the current and leave no telltale footprints. But the ruse is not always successful, for the reason that the tracker thinks nothing of distance and is likely to come upon the tracks farther on, where the thief was forced to leave the stream.

A good tracker, it is asserted, will follow a thief, yard by yard, for a hundred miles and come up with him in the end.

In one instance a burglar was once tracked until the searcher reached the lock-up of a village 80 miles from the starting point. Inside the building was the man he had set out to find. The police of that place had observed a suspicious-looking character walking about carrying a small bundle and had promptly locked him up. An examination of the bundle brought to light jewelry worth several hundred rupees.

In one instance the tracker's skill almost condemned an innocent man. Two sheep belonging to a government official had been stolen and the footprints were found to be those of a man employed to look after the public gardens.

The man was arrested, but when the track was followed up it was found to end opposite the police station, where the skins of the sheep were discovered. As it seemed unlikely that a thief would deposit his booty under the very eyes of the police, a further investigation was made, and it was eventually proved that the sheep had been taken by the police, who, to throw the trackers off the scent, had stolen and worn the gardener's shoes.

RICH COLORFUL VELVET INSURES SEASON OF HANDSOME COSTUMING

Informal Velvet Frock Replaces Summer Print

During the winter the simple velvet dress replaces the useful printed silk of the summer. The woman's Home Companion. It is that happy type of frock which takes you almost anywhere—to the theater, to the bridge table, to an informal dinner or an afternoon tea. Black is the first color choice and there is an especially nice feature about black velvet—it is always flattering. In this model the designer makes use of the smart swathed hip which is highlighted in Paris fashions. She also features deep cream lace for the neck and sleeve trimming since good lace is the natural complement to velvet.

Other Women Can't See. Other women can't see how a man can be jealous of his wife.—Chicago News.

Full-Length Coats Are Being Shown in Paris

The peculiar mixture of slender and stately lines, of simplicity and luxury, which is so characteristic of this international season in nowhere better exemplified than in the new winter collection of Jean Patou, observed at Paris fashion correspondents in the New York Herald Tribune. Perhaps no better insight can be had into the present state of Paris fashions than through a survey of the Patou collection, which embraces every type of costume from the conservative, almost English sportswear, to the highly Parisian robes de soir. In the sports category Patou presents several effective suits which have full-length coats that are apparently straight despite a very slight flare movement at either side. The characteristic skirt of these suits flares in almost precisely the same imperceptible manner as does the coat, except that in addition to the slight widening at the sides there is another in front. This is an exemplification of the twin silhouette theme which is attracting such an authoritative following.

Patou pays particular attention to the color question. His newest hue is a very deep shade of blue which resembles slate. It is usually used in its darker version, but it also appears in some youthful models in a light, almost pastel tint. Usually, when this slate blue is used for a costume, whether it be ensemble or coat, it is trimmed with gray fur. For evenings Patou is partial to a deep sapphire color.

Smart Accessories in Great Game of Fashion

Bags and gloves are no longer mere bags and gloves, bought haphazardly, because they happen to be new, or good looking, or serviceable, or to be had at a bargain.

They are subtle notes in a costume, which the woman of fashion chooses with infinite care, because they complete the picture, and because they betray at once the fact of whether or not the wearer is one of those who is initiated into the subtle mysteries of chic.

Correct accessories are not cheap. Many a woman dressing on a limited ## allowance finds that it is essential if her money never seems to cover enough gloves, shoes or bags.

For this is not true if one's wardrobe is carefully planned. If one takes the necessary amount of thought in laying out type and color scheme, the subtle accessories may be used with perfect effect and the effect be interpreted. Better take a little longer to find the dress which is not quite so expensive than to see false economy in tell-tale details which make or mar the whole.

Scarfs of Knitted Wool to Match Jumper Blouse

Scarfs of knitted wool fabric to match the jumper blouse are part of some of the new sport frocks. For instance, there will be a tweed coat and skirt in a brown mixture. The pull-on blouse or jumper of knitted fabric in this wool will be in shades of beige and brown, perhaps with a diagonal stripe across front and neck. The scarf will be of matching fabric, with the ends diagonal, and the stripe running lengthwise.

The same idea is carried out, of course, in other combinations of colors and other designs.

Sometimes there are handbags, hats and shoes to match the tweed part of these costumes.

He Won.

Douglas Jerrold simply had to have his puns. A friend of his was telling him that his wife had been brought up in a convent and was about to take the veil when she met him and accepted him as her husband-to-be.

Jerrold listened patiently and when the man had ceased his speaking the wit replied:

"So, she simply thought you better than 'nun'."—Los Angeles Times.

Proof.

Billy, aged three, had appeared at the table with hands that were somewhat soiled.

"Have you washed your hands?" asked his mother.

"Yes," replied Billy.

"I don't believe he did," replied Helen, whose own hands were presentable.

"Yes, I did, too," insisted Billy. "I know I did, for I heard the water running in the basin."

Pleasant Old Customs of Centuries to End

Old traditions kept alive among the Pyrenean villages by their romanticism will doubtless soon be obliterated by the increased traffic and modernization resulting from the new Channel railway tunnel under the French-Spanish border mountains.

One of the most ancient of these customs was certainly that of infamy in kind which possessed of the Barrois valley, close to the tunnel, have had to pay to their neighbors on the Spanish side for damage caused by cattle that did not know a frontier from a patch of clover and grass on foreign land. Every thirteenth of July for over six centuries the French have brought three heifers to the Spaniards.

Then, according to the custom, the alcaldes—Spanish for sheriffs—throw a spear into the Barrois land and fire a rifle at France. The heifers are soon turned into meat and a big meal is cooked for all. The Spaniards usually bring pots of snails and, with the wine plentifully flowing, every one has an enjoyable time. They also build bonfires and dance late into the night.

The French have not begrudged the heifers, nor have the Spaniards felt overpowered of the tribute received. It has just been an occasion to make merry. But the new streak of civilization opened by the railway will change this Arcadian simplicity. The case of the Barrois valley will soon be settled by regulations and barbed wire.

Church Altars.

The altars of the early Christian churches faced the east. The principal entrance to the church faced the west. There is a tradition to the effect that the altar was so placed in order that the priest could face the direction from which came Christianity.

Interest Grows In Concert Series

Another visit to Kingston by Dr. Sigmund Spaeth Wednesday served to stimulate the already active interest in the newly formed Community Concert Association whose members are being enrolled this week. Dr. Spaeth spoke at today's assembly in the high school and created great enthusiasm by his exposition of the "Common Sense of Music." He also appeared at the banquet of the Farm and Home Association Wednesday evening and is scheduled for an early engagement at the Normal School in New Paltz.

Membership in the Kingston Community Concert Association is open to all, with a special rate for students in the schools. Music lovers of Kingston and vicinity are cordially invited to join the Association and if not personally reached, applications may be made to John C. Porter, secretary of the Community Concert Association, at the Y. M. C. A., Kingston.

It is already certain that at least three outstanding attractions in the concert field can be brought to Kingston through this practical community plan.

Headquarters of the Kingston Community Concert Association are at the Y. M. C. A. with Mrs. Louise Horton of New York in active cooperation with the local committee.

Limit to Train Speed

Under Best Conditions

When railway beds have been made as nearly perfect as possible; when the lines have been straightened and as far as practicable leveled, and when the best types of locomotives and cars have been devised, how fast will steam be able to carry us?

An answer to this question, based on a scientific examination of the conditions involved, is furnished by an authority on facts relating to railroads. One hundred miles an hour is about the limit of speed suggested.

Another very important question growing out of the first is: Within what distance can a train running 100 miles an hour, or but little less than 150 feet a second, be stopped? The reply is that under the most favorable conditions a distance of nearly half a mile would be required. A train running a mile a minute can be stopped, it is estimated, within a

Downtown Santa Is Coming Soon

Santa Claus notified the Downtown Business Men's Association

Wednesday that he will soon be ready to visit all his little friends in Kingston. He heard that the merchants trimmed the streets to prepare for his coming and he promises that the event will be a gala one.

When Old St. Nick arrives downtown in the near future he will give away a lot of candy, which the Downtown Business Men's Association

is going to provide. The business men will hold a big celebration when Santa arrives, which every child is urged to attend.

The following letters were received by Santa Claus who will be glad to see every little writer when he arrives downtown: Beatrice Labl,

Eddie Krom, Mary Richard, Helen

Picker, Bobby Fitcher, Barbara E.

Buley, Norman Dunbar, Mary Lou

and Helen Kringskioke, Robert

Dougherty, Robert Flisk, James

Muriel and Dorothy Krauser, James and George Harbeck, Louis Van-

Demark, Elizabeth and Mary Huffer.

Santa will be pleased to hear from all little boys and girls. All one has to do is to send him a letter in care of the Downtown Business Men's Association and he will make a list of the toys and other articles requested. Santa will also answer all letters of boys and girls.

State Will Build 40-Foot Highway

Albany, Dec. 6.—At a hearing before the Public Service Commission yesterday in the matter of eliminating the Saugerties-Kingston crossing of the New York Central Railroad tracks about 2 miles north of Kingston, J. M. Brennan, general manager of New York Central Railroad Company, requested to participate in the cost of an overpass on an 18-foot road with 12 feet in width across the tracks at approach as ordered by the Commission on October 4, claiming that 22 feet in width is sufficient for this width of road.

E. W. Wendell, assistant grade-crossing engineer of the State Department of Public Works, testified that within the near future the state expected to build a 40-foot road in this section and said that it was proposed by F. L. Wheeler, attorney, appeared for the New York Central Railroad.

The case was adjourned subject to call of the commission.

Children should not be trained to sleep in absolute quiet. Accustom them to go to sleep during the ordinary noises of the house. An inadvertent noise would thus not wake them, and in later years noises would not trouble them.

Find Body of Kidnapped Boy

New York, Dec. 6 (AP).—The body of a boy identified by a brother as that of Joseph Storka, seven years old, who was kidnapped from his home late November 17, was found today in a swampy area under a bridge near Secaucus, N. J. Jersey City police, who found the body, notified police headquarters here.

A search of the swampy area was started at daybreak as the result of an alleged confession of Peter Kozlowski, 25 years old, to the police, a colored band from New York city.

In Detroit, where he was arrested for intoxication, that he had kidnapped and killed an East Side boy.

Detroit police telegraphed to Jersey City police, that Kozlowski had told them of killing a boy in the marshes near the Saugerties bridge last November.

Kozlowski, they said, told of taking the boy to a movie, and then to Jersey City where they went for a walk in the marshes.

Examination of the body showed the boy had been killed by cutting his throat.

Dance at Odd Fellows Hall.
There will be a dance tonight at the Odd Fellows hall, 63 Cornell street. Music will be furnished by Kozlowski, 25 years old, to the police, a colored band from New York city.

DeWitt announced to the members present that owing to the absence of Chairman Frederick Davis it would be necessary to choose a temporary presiding officer. Supervisor Foster nominated Supervisor Young for temporary chairman which was ratified unanimously. The clerk named Supervisors Foster and Wilkin as a committee to escort Supervisor Young to the chair.

Name New Seldom Used.

Helvetia is the old Roman name for what corresponds to the modern Switzerland, and the name is still used in poetic references to that country.

Robin Leads Sparrow.

It has been estimated that the familiar robin is the most numerous bird of the United States, followed closely by the imported English sparrow.

TUNNEL SAFETY TESTS EXPLAINED

Experiments With Humans Forecast Dangers.

New York—How modern tunnels for vehicles under rivers, such as the Holland tunnel under the Hudson, have been made possible by means of experiments on animals and experiments in which full-sized autos were driven through a small experimental tunnel, is revealed in a report to the Engineering Foundation here by A. C. Fletcher, chief engineer of the experiment station division of the United States bureau of mines.

When the Holland tunnel was first proposed, says Mr. Fletcher, many engineers thought that it would be impossible to ventilate. The amount of poisonous carbon monoxide given off in the exhaust was thought to be so great that it could not be carried away.

Experiments made by Prof. Yandell Henderson at Yale university showed that as much carbon monoxide in the air as four parts in 10,000 would not be harmful if the exposure did not exceed an hour.

The first experiments were made on animals, then Professor Henderson and his students tried it on themselves.

Then an experimental tunnel was built at the experimental mine of the bureau of mines near Pittsburgh. This was 9 feet wide, 8 feet high and 400 feet long. Above the ceiling was an air duct three feet high and below the floor was one two and one-half feet high. Either could be used for introducing fresh air or for exhausting contaminated air.

Small automobiles were driven back and forth through the tunnel at a speed of ten miles an hour and at 40-foot intervals. Tests were made with various methods of removing and admitting the air, and examinations of the drivers by blood tests were made before and after.

It was found that the most efficient method of ventilating was to admit the fresh air at the bottom and to remove it at the top.

Another safety device developed by the bureau of mines in use in the Holland tunnel is an automatic carbon monoxide recording machine, which rings a bell and flashes a danger light when the gas becomes more concentrated than "our parts in 10,000. Then immediate steps can be taken to increase the circulation of air.

Candy will be on sale to suit your taste. The "mystic goose" will supply an evening of fun for young and old.

"The Reward of Endurance" is the subject for the morning service at the Reformed Church on Sunday morning, Sunday school at 11:45 under the direction of L. D. Sahler. C. E. at 7 p. m. "How Should a Christian's Christmas be Different?" is the topic. Miss K. H. Cantline will be the leader.

Phrase Long in Use.

Although the phrase "Carry on" was popularized in the World War by the British army, its origin can be traced to a much earlier period. Originally a naval word of command, meaning "continue as before," it was first applied to war by Addison in his Spectator in 1712. The first to use it in a nautical sense was a writer in Blackwood's Magazine, April, 1832.
